Bidding April 6 on Briarcliff pond

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Mayor Paul Schuler announced yesterday that bids for the long-awaited Briarcliff drainage project have been sent out and will be opened April 6.

The proposed holding pond will be located on five vacant lots at the end of Briarcliff.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer said a final agreement for the purchase of the land is being worked out.

The pond is intended to prevent West Pontoon area flooding, which in the past has closed roads and caused storm waters to lap at the front doors of residential houses.

The mayor said such flooding has plagued homeowners there for years.

"The bids are accepted April 6, work could begin within three weeks of that date," said Brewer. The work could take between three and five months to complete.

Schuler estimated development of the two-acre holding pond would cost about $100,000, but the expense will be paid through a federal Community Development grant.

The bid will include the construction of the pond, storm sewer lines and a lift station.

The Briarcliff pond is part of a $50,000 project for the Briarcliff-Melrose drainage system and a separate system in North Granite.

North Granite's drainage system has been completed, but pipes joining the residential streets to the drainage system must still be installed and connected.

The Briarcliff plan was stalled two years ago when some Luers Park Estate residents objected at a public hearing to the first proposed location near the end of Yale Avenue.

The engineering department had since sought alternative plans and sites. No formal objection complaints have been made about the new location. Residents have been contracted by their aldermen, he said.

A six-foot fence will surround the pond.

When dug, the pond will hold excessive water after rainstorms, and flooding. When the city's storm sewers are not in use, the water will be pumped from the reservoir back into the sewers.

Wage freeze at GC Steel

Expecting a first-quarter loss in 1982, National Steel Corporation is imposing a wage freeze on its 7,000 salaried employees—and there are indications it may seek to reopen its contract with the United Steelworkers of America.

In addition to freezing the salaried staff's pay, the parent firm of Granite City Steel will reduce its capital spending, Howard M. Love, chairman and president, said Monday.

At a news briefing, he reversed earlier forecasts that the company would be profitable in the Jan. 1 through March 31 period.

"The market has been softer than we thought it would be," Love said in citing a continuing slump in orders for steel products.

Losses in steel operations now are

Cub Scouts plan annual Day Camp.

Cub Scouts throughout the area will participate in a variety of activities this summer when they attend the 1982 Cub Scout Day Camp conducted by the Cahokia Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Registration now is underway for the day camp, which opens Monday, July 12. Again this year, the program will be held at Granite City on Mondays the 13th and 14th; Carlyle Lake on Tuesdays the 13th and 20th; Woodlawn Park in Collinsville on Wednesdays the 14th and 21st and on Thursdays, July 15th and 22nd. The Cub Scouts will visit Camp Sunnen at Potosi, Mo.

Ron Luebben of Granite City will serve as Cub Scout Day Camp director this year.

The program of Cub Scout Day Camp is designed to meet the needs and interests of boys and their parents. Luebben explained, "and it represents an important part of scouting's educational program for youth."

"Not only is Cub Scout Day Camping fun, it offers adventure with a purpose," Luebben said, "it meets a need for boys in our area who are 8 through 10 years of age."

Each day's activities will be held in different areas of the camp in order to expose the Cubs to many new experiences. Many of these activities will be related to the achievements and electives of the Cub Scout advancement program, as well as first aid, swimming, truck, police car, ambulance, water treatment plant and many other activities like nature hikes, fishing, an obstacle course and games.

Traffic accidents, deaths declining

Illinois State Police District 11 had a record low of only two traffic fatalities in February, Trooper James Gallo, public information officer for the district, said. During the month of February, 77 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents on Illinois highways, of which two occurred in District 11. The total statewide fatalities for this year is 163, a striking reduction of 103 from last year during the same period.

Captain E. F. A. Nagelmas, commander of District 11, said, "Traffic accidents affect everyone, directly or indirectly. The Illinois State Police and many other agencies expend much of their efforts toward reducing traffic accidents; however, the key to the problem is you, the responsible driver."

To all motorists who have demonstrated a safe driving attitude by voluntary compliance to all traffic laws, I wish to extend my sincere compliments for helping us maintain a continuous reduction of traffic fatalities in Illinois.

ments in a Detroit News article, adding that "any action which may or may not be considered has to come from the industry-wide bargaining group." The group has been holding steel industry bargaining since 1989.

National and seven other steelmakers negotiate the terms and then conform to a basic steel agreement reached every two or three years.

Among the Great Lakes Division's steelmaking competitors, McLothe Corp. in January negotiated $10 million worth of wage concessions with its USW local. Earlier, Ford Motor Company's Rouge Steel unit obtained incentive-type pay cuts from the United Auto Workers. McLothe is reorganizing under federal bankruptcy laws.

The Lakes, which is larger than Granite City Steel, is operating at about half of its production capacity. Its two competitors are offering larger discounts than it can afford to offer.

There have been no formal discussions on reopening its contract and wage concessions among smaller steel firms that are not members of the industry bargaining group. In some instances, such concessions are giving the smaller producers a competitive edge in a steel market where there is deepening price discounting.

McBride said he does not feel a manufacturer must be on the brink of collapse in order to seek contract concessions.

National Steel confirmed his company's wage freeze cut from 10 to 25 percent, Love said. The salary freeze and pay reductions will be for a six-month period beginning April 1.

Chicago-based steel proposed 1982 capital expenditures are being trimmed to $180 million from $230 million and that further cutbacks may be considered. Capital outlays in 1981 amounted to $180 million.

The executive, formerly president of Granite City Steel, said National Steel will make a $40 million aluminum foil rolling mill in Europe subject to negotiations with lenders. A site has not been chosen.

Earlier in March, National began talks on selling its Weirton, W. Va., steel plant to the employees there.

The corporation's stock closed at $14.87 a share on March 10.

Another former Granite City Steel president, Robert D. McBride, now president of National's Great Lakes Steel Division, acknowledged the weekend pressure is building on major steelmakers to seek to reopen their basic labor contracts before the steelworkers' strike in August 1989.

'Bare bones' state school budget voted

The Illinois State Board of Education has recommended a fiscal year 1983 budget that calls for an increase of $78.5 million in state general funds for elementary, secondary, vocational, and adult education.

Board members on Monday, called it a "bare-bones" budget and said that additional billions of new state funds would be necessary to meet the needs of Illinois schools in FY 83. State Superintendent Donald Gill said the $2.2 billion proposed state general funds budget to be considered by the legislature in consideration of the state's financial problems, while it attempts to meet as many of the schools' needs as possible.

The board also voted to endorse Governor James R. Thompson's proposed liquor tax increase that would make more funds available for education. The governor has indicated that education is a top priority to receive revenue from the liquor tax. Board members said they would look at other methods of increasing resources available for education. The board is considering whether to support, in principle, the governor's proposed premium tax on domestic insurance companies.

According to Dr. Gill, the proposed budget calls for a 3.7 percent increase over FY 82 general fund appropriations, education programs and services would receive an increase of about 1.6 percent over last year. The state's two teachers' retirement systems would receive over half the new money.

According to Dr. Gill, the two teachers' retirement funds would get 54 percent of the new money requested, up $42.5 million over FY 82 appropriations.

This appropriation would meet 70 percent of the payout level, and funds would be available in the retirement systems to pay the entire costs of current retirement benefits.

The budget proposal continues to reflect the board's principle that emphasis should be placed on distributing resources via the most equitable means and a general state aid formula.

General state aid would be maintained at its 1982 level, but increases in local assessed valuations and enrollment decreases could raise the per-pupil support level by approximately $120.

High school state aid program funded through statutory formulas would be reimbursed at 90 percent, with the exception of three areas.

The two orphanage programs would be fully funded and regional vocational transportation would be reimbursed at 96 percent.

The mandated bilingual programs would be increased over last year under the proposed budget, and be raised to 100 percent of appropriation levels. All other non-statutory formula categorical programs would continue to be funded at their 1982 levels.

Board members added two new initiative items to their budget. One is a direct education program that would receive $100,000 in 1983, and $1 million would be appropriated for local desegregation assistance.

In addition to state funds, the board's budget includes about $1.6 million in state drives, education funds and $438 million from the federal government, bringing the total proposed budget for education to $2.7 billion.

Charged in three store burglaries

A 17-year-old Granite Cityan—allegedly captured at 1:35 a.m. Monday inside the Best Buy Computer, 200 Washington Ave.—was charged later that day in connection with the total of three store burglaries.

Terry L. Chandler, 2606 Grand Ave., was named in the Best Buy break-in and in two Clonko's Market store burglaries that were discovered March 4 and March 10. Clonko's is located at 2901 Madison Ave.

Chandler also was charged with violating probation conditions.

Judge P. J. O'Neill set his bonds at a total of $85,000 during a hearing here at 4 p.m. Monday. A mittimus was authorized for transfer to county custody.

No charges were filed at this time against a second suspect, who had been taken into custody at 2:10 a.m. at another location. He was released to his parents at 11:45 a.m. Monday.

A police officer looking through a window of the confectionery saw an individual inside. When the officer approached a locked front door, the person ran toward the back of the store.

The back door also proved to be locked. An inspection showed no signs of entry to the building. It later was determined that entry had been gained through a ventilation window.

With the suspect still inside, police surrounded the building. When nobody was found in an upstairs area, police forced their way into the store from the back and found a youth hiding in a restroom.

Items removed from shop and placed inside a bag found on the floor included knives, wallets, old coins, belt buckles, cigarette lighters and key rings. A cash drawer had been emptied of $65.

DAMAGED AUTOS

The back rear windows of two parked automobiles were broken. It was reported during the weekend. Orville Frank of Malbank, Tex., who was visiting here, said his station wagon was damaged while parked at 21 Bermuda Lane, and James Miller, 2494 E. 24th St., discovered that the rear window of his auto was broken. In another incident, James Wood of Collinsville, reported that the right rear window of his 1978 vehicle was broken while parked at 3717 Nameoki Road.

Instructors for the workshop include: Karen Holm, assistant general counsel to the Washington University in St. Louis; John L. The purpose of the workshop is to help colleges and universities perform their duties more effectively through a clearer recognition and management of situations involving potential legal risk to themselves and their institutions.

Forces attack

Somalia reported an attack on Feb. 4, 1978, in the Ogaden by Soviet-backed Ethiopian, Cuban and South Yemeni forces.

 Matthew 10:8 "Freely you have received, freely give."

One of the most prominent teachings of the Bible is that of giving. In order for us to freely give, we can never be afraid to do so. For the very moment we begin to do our "Duty" we have been compelled to do it. Then we give and do not always want to do it, and certainly are not giving freely.

Giving is a privilege. God loves a cheerful giver. When we understand that we are pleasing our Heavenly Father, because we give, all giving brings us joy. We are not compelled to do it. Then we give and do not always want to do it, and certainly are not giving freely.

Our nature to give freely reflects the nature of God. And that pleases Him!

Start giving freely. Today.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Richard Cox, 3215 Maryville Road, returned home from work last week and found that his apartment had been ransacked. $100 cash had been taken from a hiding place and two stereo speakers valued at $75 and a Polaroid camera costing $30 were missing.

Entry was believed through a sliding bedroom window, which was slightly open and the piece of wood, kept there to insure locking of the window was missing. The intruders apparently left through the front door as the deadbolt lock was unlocked, according to official reports.

Venice board hears about drive to halt school financial cuts; sets sports banquet for May 12

By VALERIE EVERDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice Board of Education at its meeting Monday night set May 12 for the district's "All Sports Banquet," adopted a policy relating to Special Education, and reviewed a proposed foster-grandparent program.

No action was taken on a suggested cafeteria management survey and a request for District 3 and a former food service program.

A request from Venice coaches to use a school district bus to transport students to a preliminary Ozark AAU basketball meet at Lovejoy Park Area College in Godfrey was approved by the board.

The AAU championship program at the county level is being sponsored by Madison County EOC and Stars and consists of competition in five age groups for boys and three age groups for girls.

All students entered at the elementary level will be from Venice, while the high school age group will include students from Madison, Venice and Lovejoy high schools, the coaches informed the board.

It was noted that a $35 fee for local students to enter the Godfrey tournament has been paid by Mr. Salmon, president of the Eagle Park Action Committee.

Board Member Charles Mosby said those teams successful at Godfrey will represent at AAU regional meets in Cape Girardeau, Mo., April 28-30. He proposed the expense of sending the youthful athletes should be shared jointly with the Madison and Lovejoy school districts.

Sample letters urging members of legislature to vote "NO" to any further attempt to reduce funds for educational purposes were distributed to the board by Irene Orr, representing Venice Teachers Local 965. The board gave approval for the sample letters to be taken home by Venice pupils.

The Illinois Federation of Teachers, in conjunction with the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), is spearheading a massive letter-writing campaign to Illinois congressional representatives and senators in an all-out drive to stop the Reagan budget cuts.

The proposed slashes in federal funding for Illinois would be cut next year by almost 11 percent, down $38 million to $316.9 million. The statewide total for 1983-84 would be down almost another 11 percent from the 1982-83 level, for a federal funding package of $279 million, education authorities state.

During the two budget years, Illinois would be hit by a $10.3 million in Title I cuts and $30.8 million in Special Education cuts.

The two-year reduction in Title I funds would eliminate services to 35,000 Illinois school children, it is maintained.

Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers reported the Madison County EOC can no longer sponsor a summer food program and has requested the Venice School District to operate the program.

"I'd have some reluctance about seeing the school district getting involved, unless the money for labor costs and so forth could be seen up front, instead of having to file for reimbursement," the administrator commented.

There has been some questions raised about the value of the program, which has been conducted in Venice the past two summers, he noted.

Venice was asked to investigate the operation further and find out how many children are fed in the program and who is eligible as a sponsor.

Sharon Gregg, an English teacher and librarian, was granted a one-year leave of absence during the 1982-83 school year under the exploratory leave program, a feature in the faculty's new working agreement.

As requested by Special Education Region 1, the board adopted a policy and procedure statement in connection with evaluation of Special Education students.

Supt. Vickers reported being visited by Charles E. Byer, vice president of the National Foster Grandparent Service, which recently concluded a cafeteria study in the Granite City District.

It was agreed to wait until the end of the current school year before deciding whether to hire the firm to conduct a cafeteria survey, which includes menu planning, inventory management and ways to reduce food costs.

At the end of the first six months, the Venice cafeteria lost about $1,200 in food sales costs, Supt. Vickers said.

Also delayed at the present time was a proposal from Madison County EOC that the Venice School District take part in the foster grandparent program.

Barbara Mitchell, an EOC supervisor, said four women working in the EOC day care program in Madison were being released, as their job assignments must involve working with handicapped children.

All four women, who reside in North Venice, would continue to be paid with EOC funds, but the district may be required to provide one meal a day, it was learned.

One of the foster grandparents is able to help in the preschool Special Education class, Supt. Vickers said, providing the school principal has no objections.

Currently, two senior citizens are helping in the Venice kindergarten classes and the cafeteria, the administrator said.

Board Member Charles Mosby asked that the foster grandparent topic be discussed in executive session, noting he was aware of the program and would like to make an informal report.

Board Attorney Michael Bilbrey explained the procedure and advised the topic could be included on the next executive meeting agenda.

Mrs. Orr reported on the first meeting of the new National Honor Society at Venice High School, and said 17 students have been determined eligible for membership. She also was granted permission to begin work on an academic "Awards Day" for the high school.

Board Member Charles Mosby congratulated Mrs. Orr for her efforts and interest in organizing the honor society and also for bringing the letter-writing campaign on school finances to the board's attention.

The person will be responsible for cooperative supervision of all recreation programs and for directing staff work in these programs, a spokesman said.

Recreation supervisor to be hired

The Granite City Park District is accepting applications to fill the recreation supervisor position left open by the departure of George T. Williams III.

The district will accept applications until April 15 for this position, which has a $12,150 annual salary through May 1, 1983, plus fringe benefits.

Any one applying for the recreation supervisor job should either hold a bachelor degree in recreation or have a minimum of four years of experience in all phases of recreation programming.

The individual will be responsible for planning, publicizing, implementing and evaluating all sports, athletic and general programs offered by the Granite City Park District. He or she will report directly to the director of parks and recreation and then to the board of park commissioners.

The person will be responsible for cooperative supervision of all recreation programs and for directing staff work in these programs, a spokesman said.

Doll House benefit Sunday for Hospice

Various styles of doll houses will be featured in a benefit show to aid Hospice, scheduled Sunday, March 21, at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues.

Believed to be the first of its type in this area, the show will take place from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. Sunday.

The public is invited to view the doll house exhibits.

Admission of $2 for adults and $1 for children under 10 years old will be asked those attending.

More than 30 persons from area communities have agreed to donate items for the show, according to Judy Stille, a doll house collector, who is sponsoring the show.

Custom built doll houses or miniature dwellings that have been purchased and then furnished to reflect the individual owner's taste will be exhibited, Mrs. Stille said.

Each exhibitor taking part will receive a certificate for "Top 'N' Bottom Shop," 1243 Nineteenth Street, the sponsor advised.

All funds collected will be donated to Hospice.

DOGS ARE STOLEN
Two German shepherd dogs, left in the fenced in yard area at Rite Electric Warehouse, 2101 Street and Lincoln, Amos, were reported to be missing during the weekend, police were told. The reports noted the animals had been there for two weeks and were apparently taken out through a gate, from which the lock had been broken.

SHOTGUN TAKEN
Stephen Warren, 111 Webster St., Venice, reported to police Saturday morning he found his home had been burglarized. Among the items taken were a .20-gauge pump shotgun, a camera and AM-FM stereo component with two speakers.

Overpass 'windfall' is not enough to solve fund crisis

By GEORGEANNE MCGEE
of the Press-Record

What started last month as a $4,000 surplus, creating "quite a bit of elation" in the Granite City Council, has turned into a frustrating reminder that the council has no ready solution to its capital expenditure bind.

Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward had called a special session Tuesday night to give committee chairmen a chance to list "raw bones," capital expenditure needs. Some aldermen have called aging police vehicles and antiquated law enforcement.

The flurry of fund requests was prompted after a sizeable excess seemed possible in the 19th Street Overpass Fund. Council elation quickly turned to disappointment when the financial realities of backed-up debts and outstanding anticipation warrants were reconfirmed by City Comptroller Joseph Milkovic.

Milkovic's "wish list," briefly outlined by Alderman Paul Bowler, contained reminders of looming deficiencies in the city's future.

"We're coming to the point where there just is no more money," said Milkovic. The comptroller later suggested yet another tax may be needed.

The comptroller adjusted the $45,000 overpass surplus down to a more realistic figure of $10,000.

With such a large sum, there would be insufficient money to keep the city out of debt at the end of the year, he said.

City Treasurer Nick Petriollo told alderman that does not intend to transfer the funds from their certificate of deposit resting place until the certificates yield full interest on March 31. The city applied a fund transfer earlier by resolution.

Petriollo's comment sparked an angry confrontation between himself and finance committee Chairman Bowler, who said the delaying tactics will only increase the city's capital expenditure compensation program further in deficit.

Bowler said the finance committee has promised for years that the program, begun as a money-saving measure, would be fully funded. The account now faces at least a $123,000 deficit in the general fund, said the alderman.

Milkovic said a $19,000 deficit already exists in the city's compensation wastewater treatment plant fund for a total $147,000 deficit.

The comptroller sees no way, at the present, to bring the city back to formally anticipated levels.

The council had agreed to fund the program with $22,000 each month from the general fund and $3,500 each month from the plant funds.

If a city wants to operate the program successfully, the plan must be fully funded and those funds invested to generate a self-sufficient plan.

Presently, Milkovic said, nearly $5,000 has been deposited in the fund.

Bowler said the program has been trapped in a system of "catch up" financing, but Petriollo indicated that a too large city budget has forced that type of management.

Knights oppose TV violence

The Knights of Columbus has announced its intention to take positive steps to help upgrade the quality of television on the three major networks to play a part in stemming the flow of unwarranted violence, profanity, gratuitous sex and blasphemy over the airwaves.

Based on reports from a monitoring program presently underway at local councils called Action for Responsible Television, the

1.33 million Catholic members of the international order in New Haven will distribute to all councils lists of those advertisers who consistently sponsor enriching programs, as well as those advertisers who participate in the greatest number of offensive programs. Next September, a decision will be made as to whether or not the order will suggest avoidance of products of those advertisers who consistently participate in programming deleterious to society. This action is based on a resolution passed at the society's 1981 international meeting in Louisville urging all executives of TV and TV program directors of networks and local stations to eliminate unwarranted violence, profanity, gratuitous sex, sacrilege and blasphemy from the airwaves.

It takes a brave man to 'keep a stiff upper lip'

Don't you love a good loser? Our experience at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville Tuesday night as the election results were tallied showed a lot of successful candidates walking around smiling and shaking hands and several losers smiling, but sitting down, possibly due to "the agony of the feet," caused by hours of darting from precinct sheet to precinct sheet watching the results come in.

It would have been easy for many of the losers to blame their defeats on other factors. Obviously, the low turnout was a strong factor. This primary drew one of the smallest Quad-City area voter percentages we can remember in a long time. It would have been easy to blame the loss on the system which forces each person voting to declare whether he is a Republican or a Democrat before being given a ballot. That kept many people away from the polls.

It kind of sticks in our craw, too, to have to declare what party we ally with. The truth is, that we all need more than a good opportunity to make up our minds candidates Democratic, Republican and independent, and, consequently, almost always end up with split ballots. No one party has the best candidates. Don't let them kid you.

It's time for the best laser around the courthouse Tuesday night was Fred Painter of Granite City. Fred staged a good battle and really wanted the job. However, when the Democratic voters decided they would prefer to keep Mick Henhaus as the party's candidate for the November election, Painter donned a brave smile, congratulated Henhaus face-to-face, put on a Henhaus campaign button and told the treasurer that he could depend on Painter and his supporters for all the help he needs between now and the November election. We admire that. It could have been easy.

Mike Manning, who took on the nearly impossible chore of trying to unseat State Sen. Sam Vadalebana in his own Democratic party, said he was happy with his showing of slightly more than 20 percent.

He said the battle with Vadalebana was "an inspiring camp," and pledged he will be back in the near future, probably in a subsequent race for the state Senate.

Manning did say — only after being asked by reporters — that he feels the lack of an open primary in Illinois "cut down substantially" on the number of people willing to vote. That's "true if it's a thousand times this last six months. People just don't like to have to declare one party or the other," he noted.

Other reports of candidates braving defeat were heard around the courthouse and at campaign headquarters throughout the county. It takes bravery to enter a political campaign.

Certainly, lack of an open primary played a part in keeping voters away from the polls, but few used that excuse and most of the losers — who are far from real losers — pledged to work toward party unity between now and November.

It will be nice to see a good, two-party, issue-oriented campaign between now and the general election. It also will be nice to see the Democratic voters decide whether they are a Democrat or a Republican. Hopefully, in the near future, that can be eliminated from the primary, also.

Continue 'investing' in students for benefit of nation

Press-Record Washington Bureau — One does not have to be an A student to see abuses in federal loans to students in higher education.

The volume of low-interest loans, which are guaranteed by the government, more than doubled between 1979 to 1981, after the need requirement was deleted by President Carter.

A student from any family, no matter how rich, could receive a $2,500 loan at interest far below market. Many people would be forced to borrow the money and reinvest it or buy a new car.

But thousands of students used these loans to attend colleges they could not otherwise have attended.

At the same time, campus-based aid and grants to disadvantaged students also grew, but at a much slower rate. These programs are based on proof of financial need.

There are two types: Work-study programs, where a student works in a campus office and earns about $300 to $400 a month, and direct grant programs, which which give the student about $500 a semester.

Some students who received aid failed to do their work-study jobs or wasted their grants. But student aid officers at the campuses say the vast majority benefited significantly and may not have otherwise attended.

Together, federal student loans and grants amounted to more than $8 billion in 1981, a figure President Reagan pared by millions of dollars in his first budget. Spiraling budget deficits make further cuts inevitable. Where should they be made?

The president has proposed to cut $762 million from student loans by doubling the "origination fee" charged on new loans, applying a "need" test and ending the equality of graduate and professional students.

It seems logical to support reinstating need as a qualification for student loans, and some reduction in the amount of guaranteed loans.

The president has also proposed cutting Pell grants from $2.2 billion to $1.4 billion in 1983. Campus aid and work-study programs would be cut from $1 billion to about $400 million.

Many students who have work-study jobs also have second jobs. If the poorest students have their grants taken away, they are unlikely to find jobs to stay in college. They will have to drop out.

For every $50 lost in Pell Grants, thousands of dollars in welfare and social services may one day have to be paid.

We urge our representatives in Washington to cut waste and abuse in student loans but to preserve loans and grants for deserving students.

In times of hardship, it is all the more important to invest in America's educational future. And care must be taken to assure that college opportunity is not denied to "middle America."

When funds shrink, there is a danger that only two groups, the wealthiest and the neediest, will find college doors open to them. But brainpower is found among all income levels, and needs to be put to good use.

The president has proposed to cut $762 million from student loans by doubling the "origination fee" charged on new loans, applying a "need" test and ending the equality of graduate and professional students.

Trojanettes fall to Bunker Hill, 59-49

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

STAUNTON — Madison girls basketball coach Carol Stearns said she could not explain how the Trojanettes lost to Bunker Hill 59-49 in the first round of the Class A sectional tournament here Monday.

"I don't know why we couldn't get our offense going," Stearns said.

Actually, Stearns was answering the question bit by bit.

"We made an awful lot of mistakes tonight. We made 22 turnovers. We usually only make eight to nine turnovers a game."

"We had no outside shooting. We weren't nearly as aggressive as we usually are on the boards."

"You have to give it to Bunker Hill. They really impressed me and they're a good ball team," Stearns said.

It wasn't as if Madison had played a complete, mistake-free game. Bunker Hill coach Jim Hanks said: "We went to a 1-2-2 for a little while, but our 1-3-2 has been our most effective defense all year, and the pressure got to them."

However, Madison had found the key to the Bunker Hill defense and shot its way back to within three of the Minutemaids.

Although Bunker Hill had pushed the margin back to six after Debbie Wallace's fast break lay-up with a second left, Madison had Bunker Hill shaken up momentarily.

"I saw that we were losing our composure out there so I called a time out," Hanks said. "It's better to call a time out then when you see it happening than wait."

"I thought for a while we were going to get them," Stearns said. "Both teams came on in spurts."

The time out did Bunker Hill some good, and the Minutemaids quickly regained their 10 point advantage.

Setting The Tempo

"The first two minutes of the game set the tempo for the game," Stearns said.

Indeed, the first two minutes did set the tempo of the game. The Trojanettes made four turnovers in the first two minutes, Bunker Hill controlled the boards, and the Minutemaids jumped to a 5-2 lead.

However, this game was a game of spuds. Madison came on strong in the final four minutes of the quarter and took a 19-13 lead into the half.

Bunker Hill had another scoring streak at the start of the third quarter. By the end of that streak, Bunker Hill had a 30-19 lead and was ready to walk away with the game.

Bunker Hill's Defense

"Early, we were up 1-3-2. Bunker Hill coach Jim Hanks said: "We went to a 1-2-2 for a little while, but our 1-3-2 has been our most effective defense all year, and the pressure got to them."

Intimidating Crowd

Bunker Hill, 21-2 after defeating Madison, was tough by itself, but the Trojanettes had to deal with the crowd the Minutemaids brought to Staunton.

Although Bunker Hill fans were in the gymnasium to generate the same amount of energy as many boys teams had at the field as compared to Madison's 21 of 61 shots.

Sophomore Julie West led Bunker Hill with 20 points, Debbie Wallace had 16 points, and Melissa Busch added 12 points.

Madison center Ruth Jacks led her team with 17 points and forward Nancy Mikolaszuk scored 14 points.

Madison finished the season with a 13-5 record. "I thought we had a good season. I thought we should have played tonight's game a couple of days later. I thought these two teams were the best in the tournament."

Madison track coach optimistic despite youth

By TERESA GULL
of the Press-Record

MADISON — Despite the youth and inexperience of the Madison High School boys' track team, head coach Charles Steptoe is optimistic.

"Right now I see us moving along very well," Steptoe said. "The performances will have to come from the sophomores and juniors we have. Right now, we're kind of in the learning process."

"I think we have good potential in all areas. We're fairly balanced but probably a little behind in the distances and strong in the sprints and field events."

One of the stronger members of the team is returning letterman Shawn Brown, who will be competing in the various sprinting events.

Other sprinters include two football players, seniors Willie Ball and Ken Briggs. Freshman David Baker is also expected to vary sprints.

Senior Tim Prothro will lead the hurdle events. Helping Prothro out will be sophomore George Leonard and freshman Mark Giles.

Other distance runners include junior Brian Papa and freshman Stephan Ball.

Ball is also Madison's pole vaulter.

Steptoe said he might move him to the mile run so he has more energy to devote to his pole vaulting events.

Competing in the 800 yard run will be sophomore Santo Howard.

Other distance runners include freshmen Brian Brown and Brian Lewis and sophomore Leroy Latham, who is currently hampered by a bad ankle.

Steptoe also expects some help from freshman Robert McCallister when he becomes eligible in April. McCallister running the 440 yard events will be juniors Alberto Fuller and Elmer Collins.

Seniors John Chapman, Vernon Widener and Len Fifer, Fifer's transplants from the University of Virginia, will also compete in the long jumping duties.

Lewis will also be competing in the high jump. In an indoor meet at Chesapeake, Lewis jumped 6'2, just one-half inch off the school record. Tim Prothro will also be high jumping.

In a triangular track meet at O'Fallon yesterday afternoon, Madison finished second with 49½ points.

O'Fallon won the meet with 101½ points. Jerseyville placed third with 36 points.

Sophomore Shawn Brown was a double winner for Madison. He placed first in the 220 yard dash with a time of 24.3.

Brown also anchored the 440 yard relay which finished first with a time of 45.6. Willie Ball, Ken Briggs and Tim Prothro were the other three runners.

Junior Charles Fuller placed first in the 440 yard dash with a time of 53.8.

rather be," Mrs. Long said. "As long as she's doing something constructive, that will be fine with me."

Last year, the girls' team qualified for the state meet last year. "She's a very strong runner. If she makes it to state this year, I expect her to place in both hurdle events," Mrs. Long said.

Other returnees include junior Micaela Johnson, sophomore Abigail Heard and Angelica Dandridge.

Mrs. Parker, Miss Heard and Miss Dandridge are on the basketball team and haven't started track practice yet. Mrs. Long said she isn't sure whether Miss Dandridge will compete in track or whether she will be on the softball team.

This is the first year for softball at Madison. Although Mrs. Long said she would miss the high jumping and shot putting skills of Miss Dandridge, she knows she would also excel in softball.

"If she doesn't really like track, she'd be better off being where she would rather be," Mrs. Long said. "As long as she's doing something constructive, that will be fine with me."

Last year, the girls' team qualified for the state meet. Mrs. Long wants to keep individual performances like those high, but she also wants to develop a team effort.

"With 22 girls on the squad, she believes she can. "This is really much better. I have some promising freshmen out," Mrs. Long said.

"I want to keep them (the girls) interested and have some success. Last year, I put all my eggs on six girls and I think we spread them out."

If the weather cooperates, Mrs. Long said she will start holding track meets next Monday in a dual meet against Granite City South at South.

Trojan netters green, but enthusiastic

FIRSTS are a good way to describe the 1982 edition of the Madison boy's tennis team.

With a new coach and 60 percent of the team first season tennis athletes, perhaps first is the only way to describe these Trojans. They're a small bunch, consisting of only five team members.

Coach Terry Beer is the new coach, replacing Nick Jakich, who quit as headmaster. Prior to coming to his new acquired coaching position with the Trojans, Beer coached a girl's team in Eureka, Ill.

"For the most part, these kids are inexperienced, first year tennis players," Beer said. "During the first year, I want to teach them the proper way to grip the racket. Before that I saw several different types of grips. Everything from a ping pong grip to a racquetball grip," Beer said.

The Trojans may be inexperienced now, but Beer has high hopes for the future.

"What these kids lack in experience, they more than make up for in enthusiasm. We've got some good athletes, it'll just take a couple of years for them to come around."

Part of the strategy Beer will give his players this year and in the coming years will be mental.

"I'm a big strategist. Tennis is a skill sport for the most part. The person who wins consistently is a strategist."

Part of this strategy that Beer will instill in his young team, he said, is how and when to play the game.

"To win in tennis you've got to know when and how to make playing the net work best for you," Beer said. "You've got to get to the net to win."

Winning might not come to Madison's tennis team too frequently this year, but Beer is content to coach his young team until they mature.

Lady Cougar netters debut Friday

EDWARDSVILLE — The women's tennis team of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will open the 1982 portion of their schedule Friday, March 18, when they take on the women's team of the University of Iowa at 2 p.m. in the first round of the eight-team Cowgirl Invitational Tournament in Stillwater, Okla.

The Cougars, who have already won the Illinois AAU State Championships for the 1981-82 season, will also battle such outstanding teams as Oklahoma State University, the University of Oklahoma, Iowa State University, the University of Illinois, Wichita State University and Tyler (Tex.) Junior College in the three-day event.

Lillian Almeida and Joan Mahon-Finder are expected to lead the way for the Cougars in the number one and two spots. Almeida, a senior from Brazil, and Mahon-Finder, a junior from Berwyn, are currently locked up in a battle for the top spot, while freshmen Laurie Foederer and Patty Tidwell will anchor the third and fourth positions.

Foederer, from Highland, and Tidwell, a Collinsville native, are both coming off outstanding fall campaigns in which each won their respective AAU flights and teamed up for the doubles championship in the state tournament.

A pair of freshmen, Lea

Schmidt and Stacy Wells will join senior state champion Bunny Wall to round out the squad. Schmidt, a native of 1982, is also expected to team with Wall, a Flight six singles champion in 1981 on the Cougars' number three doubles team. Wells, who came to SIUE from Flora, made her collegiate debut last fall by winning the IIAW crown in the fifth flight.

Following the prestigious

Tri-City to open late

GRANITE CITY — There will be racing at the Tri-City Race Way this spring, but the season will just be starting a little later.

According to Elvis Doolin, owner of the track property, the racing season will open Saturday, May 8. Sprint and late model races will be featured. In past years, the season began in the middle of April.

"It's always wet in the spring during the year. You can't race in the mud," Doolin said. "There's so much snow and everything it's hard to get the track ready early."

Last spring, three races had to be cancelled because of inclement weather and poor track conditions.

Hanley, in charge of promotions for Tri-City, said he will be Dennis Scott of Naples, Fla. The person in charge of promotions last season, Gilbert Rimmel, resigned.

In his acceptance

speech, McCarthy said:

"Thanks for the award, but don't expect me back next year."

He was a member of Eastern Illinois University's

Warrior netters young inexperienced

Rebuilding. Every sports team has a period when it's necessary — pros and amateurs.

Such is the case with the 1982 edition of the Granite City South boy's tennis team.

"I'm afraid we're going to be hurting this year," said coach Rich Harmon, who is in his second season as the Warriors' tennis coach.

"We've got mostly young, inexperienced kids, but I may be surprised."

The Warriors have only one senior, Brian Sparks, returning from last year, and a few lettuces, too — John Menendez and Matt Sheridan.

"I look forward to those to be the team leaders," Harmon said. "They're two of the best tennis players in the area." Both Menendez and Sheridan, team captains this year, competed in State tennis competition last year, only to lose in the first round to players from Chicago.

Harmon said he is also expecting team support from juniors Charlie Meyers and Don Kaltmayer.

The Warriors are the reigning Gateway East conference champions,

"It will be difficult to have a conference championship team with these kids this year, but they'll come of age in the next few years we'll be in the running of things," until then Harmon is content to teach, train and educate his young team towards another conference championship.

"We've got probably the biggest kid in the conference in Kalmeyer, and the smallest, (Kevin) Dickerson," Harmon said.

Kalmeyer is a husky 6-foot-2, weighing about 230 pounds, and Dickerson is a short 4-foot-11 weighing about 85 pounds.

80 in park Ice Show

GRANITE CITY — Eighty ice skaters participated in the Tenth Annual Granite City Ice Show Review at the Wilson Park Rink on Monday, March 15.

The show was dedicated to Harold Brown for his 30 years of service as superintendent of the Granite City Park District. Brown will retire April 1. David Nolan is his replacement.

For the first time this year, the beginner and intermediate classes of skaters were included in the show. In past years, only the free style skaters have performed.

The three divisions of skaters performed solos, duets, trios and large group numbers. Both amateur and professional skaters participated.

The show was directed by Cindy Grimes, who was assisted by Beth Hodges.

Former Granite City skater Dave Lindsay (right) won the World High Diving Championship in Orlando, Fla. Lindsay won the title after winning all four events.

It was the second time in as many years that Lindsay has won the title. Last year, he won the title in the 1000-meter butterfly.

Lindsay's love for water sports was kindled here as a member of Granite City Paddler's Swim Club, under the direction of Gayle McCormick.

Tentatively ABC's Wide World of Sports will air Lindsay and the high diving championships April 10.

Lincoln defeats Red Devils

But in the end it was eradicating Murphyboro that helped seal the Tiger victory. The Red Devils shot 30 percent 21 of 71 from the field. Guards Gary and Jerry Bankhead, who each had 10 points, were the only ones to shoot better than 50 percent.

Lincoln started its pull away in the second quarter, with different four players scoring five baskets to give the Tigers a 24-14 halftime lead.

"This year we've had a problem with the first two quarters," said Jackson, who added 14 points and 10 rebounds, making it up for the super section loss in 1980. And Tiger coach Bennie Lewis was happy but relieved.

It was final. Lincoln was on its way to the Illinois State Basketball Tournament for the first time ever.

On paper, Lincoln's game clearly favored Lincoln. At every position, the Tigers were taller and they had a tougher regular season schedule.

"In tournament play," Lewis said, "what's on paper doesn't always happen."

The Devils played a close first period, trailing only 12 to 10 in the first quarter. In the first quarter they took advantage of nine Lincoln turnovers to stay within striking distance.

"They were out playing some ball," Porter said. "They didn't come out playing scared like some other teams."

The Red Devils worked the ball inside for two early baskets, and Jerry Bankhead dropped two others from outside. Had it not been for a Portor stuff at the buzzer, the card would have ended tied.

Steeler netters confident, mature

If having all of last year's Steeler tennis team return this year is any indication of what kind of season coach John Van Buskirk and his tennis team will have, the Steeler netters should be sitting pretty.

Every member of last year's edition returns this year, with the addition of some new faces to the team.

The Steeler strength this year would come from seniors Kendall Whittington and Everett Jolly, juniors Keith Glasgow and Jesse Byrd and sophomore David Lipe. All are returning lettermen.

Outstanding new additions to the team this year are freshmen Mike Salem, Jeff Rush and Tony Watson.

With that kind of roster, Van Buskirk is optimistic that the team can improve on last year's four and 11 record.

"We're going to be better naturally, but we're still going to have our weaknesses," Van Buskirk said. "Every team has their weaknesses. We're not noted for our tennis team." But he said things could soon change.

Van Buskirk said he hasn't had his team outside much this young season,

Granite North Steelers

so he hasn't been able to determine who'd be playing first or second team singles and doubles.

"I really don't know who's going to play what. I don't want to make any judgment decisions. I'll leave that up to the intersquad matches," Van Buskirk said.

The weaknesses Van Buskirk mentioned comes from within.

"Tennis never has been very big at North. For instance I don't think any of our kids have been working in the off season."

For that reason Van Buskirk and his tennis team will be practicing late before their March 26 opener against Mascoutah.

"Mascoutah's tough, but if our underclassmen come through we could give them a good show," Van Buskirk said.

All games, home and away, begin at 4 p.m.

Leafy vegetables in home gardens

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Adviser
Several plants can be successfully grown in home vegetable gardens to yield leaves for use either raw or cooked in salads or cooked as greens.

These include collards, cress, endive, kale, lettuce, New Zealand spinach, parsley, Swiss chard, spinach and beets and turnips for tops.

In addition to their appeal in salads and as main course dishes, the leafy vegetables are excellent sources of vitamins, minerals and roughage for the diet.

Cool moist conditions are best for cress, endive, mustard, spinach, collards, kale, beets and turnips for tops.

Temperatures of between 45 and 70 degrees are ideal. Sunlight conditions usually prevail in spring and fall and, consequently, the vegetables are best grown during these seasons.

Other leafy vegetables such as New Zealand spinach and Swiss chard can thrive and develop good quality in warm weather and are suggested for planting to supply greens during the summer months.

Leafy vegetables may be grown on a wide range of soils if the soil is well supplied with organic matter and water.

The soil should be well drained and have a pH in the range of 5.5-6.8. Heavy soils should be modified with conditioners such as rotted manure or compost prior to attempting to grow leafy vegetables.

As for all horticultural crops, the choice of variety is important to successful crop production.

Varieties suggested for planting are: Detroit Dark Red and Burpee Golden beets for greens; Extra fine curled cress; Vates collards; Full Heart Batavian and Green Curled endive; Salad Bowl Grand Rapids and Black Seeded Simpson leaf lettuce.

Buttercrunch and Summer Bibb butterhead lettuce; Southern Giant curled and Green Wave mustard; Extra Dark Curled parsley; Long Standing Brussels sprouts and Hybrid No. 7 spinach; Lucifer Swiss Chard; and Shogoin and Seven Top turnips for greens.

All these can be grown in early April. The season can be extended by making two plantings, 15 to 20 days apart. Lettuce can be planted again in early to mid-August for fall crops.

A well-prepared seedbed is necessary, as the need of many of the leafy vegetables is small.

After applying a broadcast application of fertilizer, work the soil to prepare a seed bed. The soil should neither be pulverized to be extra fine nor underworked so that it consists mostly of large clods.

Seeds are sown at the depth indicated on the packet. Moisture is essential for seed germination.

It is difficult to drop small seeds without getting them seeded too thickly, so thinning is usually necessary. Do this when the plants are 1 to 2 inches high.

Observe the proper planting times, since leafy vegetables such as spinach and leaf lettuce may "bolt" or go to seed during the long hot summer months.

Also remember that leafy vegetables which thrive in cool weather are usually of lower quality when grown under high temperature and drought conditions of the summer months.

Weeds must be controlled in the planting. If the vegetables are to grow and develop properly. As many of the leafy vegetables have shallow root systems, shallow cultivation is necessary to avoid root injury.

Leafy vegetables may be grown without chemical insect or disease control.

Q. The new upper limits on IRAs certainly look inviting. However, I am wondering if a person would have to make a $2,000 contribution each year in order to realize a worthwhile retirement amount?

A. Although $2,000 is the limit an individual may contribute per year into an Individual Retirement Account without penalty, your annual contributions can be substantially less and still realize a good retirement income.

Of course, the gauge is the length of time the account is left untouched. But, as an example, if you were to contribute the maximum of $2,000 per year, at the beginning of each year, and did not touch the account, you would accumulate $48,685 after 40 years. An annual contribution of $500 would work out to $243,426 after 40 years, or $54,091 after just 25 years. IRAs are quite flexible, and fit easily into most budgets.

during some seasons. However, as insect pests attack leafy vegetables, it is suggested that gardeners obtain and use Illinois Cooperative Extension Service bulletins providing current pest control recommendations. These bulletins are available through County Extension Service offices.

Service bulletins providing current pest control recommendations. These bulletins are available through County Extension Service offices.

In general, leafy vegetables are harvested as the leaves approach full size, but before they become tough, woody or bitter.

Vegetables like Swiss chard are often harvested by cutting the larger outer leaves and allowing the inner, smaller leaves to further develop. In this way, the harvest season can be spread over a longer period of time.

New Zealand spinach is harvested by removing the tender stem tips containing several leaves.
